Our Mission

To inspire, build, and sustain vibrant Jewish life in a changing world by mobilizing our community in common purpose, intentional innovation, and effective action.

Vision for Our Community

An open, connected, and vibrant Jewish community that cares for each other, fosters Jewish learning and journeys, embraces Jewish peoplehood and Israel, and acts as a force for good in the world.

Federation's distinct vantage point empowers us to identify the most pressing issues facing our community and mobilize community builders, philanthropists, leaders, and resources to address them.

We have the capacity, scope, and mandate to advance our community by identifying and seizing communal opportunities for growth.

By forging meaningful connections and collaborative partnerships, we unite local leaders and organizations to pursue a shared vision and meet our community's needs.

As our community and the world continue to overcome concurrent challenges and prepare for others, Federation's work remains critical.

Securing Jewish Greater Washington

As antisemitic incidents increase locally and nationally — 98% in Maryland and 50% in Northern VA, per the ADL — the safety and security of our community remains a top priority for Federation.

In partnership with the Jewish Community Relations Council of Greater Washington (JCRC), ADL, American Jewish Committee (AJC), and others, Federation connects our community and local organizations with resources and training, and works to ensure our community members and institutions are safe, secure, and prepared for a crisis.

raised by generous donors for Federation's LiveSecure initiative, which seeks to raise $2.5M to further strengthen local security efforts.

3,100+

people and 370 organizations, including synagogues, Jewish day schools, JCCs, early childhood education centers, and day and overnight summer camps, benefited from 131 security training sessions.

Confronting and Combating Antisemitism

In addition to Federation's $2 million investment to combat antisemitism in Greater Washington over the next three years, Federation is actively:

- Convening Jewish communal leadership to work in concert against antisemitism.
- Empowering community members to address antisemitism, intolerance, and bias by reporting threats and sharing key resources.
- Advocating for increase education on antisemitism to build early and ongoing comprehension of the link between conspiracy theories and hate.
- Building intergroup coalitions of communal leaders to combat antisemitism and strengthen Greater Washington as a whole.
- Strengthening communal security by investing in and expanding training and physical security enhancements across the community.

“Federation’s training sessions are informative and provide staff with a sense of awareness and readiness, putting our minds at ease.”

Executive Director, Washington
Hebrew Congregation

Connecting with Israel and Israelis

Federation believes Israel must be a democracy for all of its citizens and a homeland for world Jewry. In these complex times, Israel needs the voices and support of American Jewry more than ever. In 2022 – 2023, with your generosity, our investments in Israel totaled $4.7M+.

Your donations foster local connections to Israel and Israelis, including through immersive experiences and programming in our community and in Israel, and ensures we can care for the most vulnerable in Israel. Federation also supports Israeli organizations working to build a more just, equitable, and inclusive society by furthering religious pluralism, democracy, LGBTQIA+ inclusion, shared society, social change, and more.

Building Ties Through Immersive Experiences

Federation is proud to provide opportunities to help our community members better understand the challenges and core issues confronting Israel today, and build deep ties with Israelis.

Your Impact: Arava's NextGen Climate Changemakers

Our community invested $800,000 in 21 Israeli organizations, including the Arava Institute. Arava's NextGen Climate Changemakers program connects young Israeli Jews, Israeli Arabs and Palestinians, and DC-area Jews with a shared commitment to the environment as a lens through which American Jews can build a relationship with Israel and their diverse Israeli peers.

"It was amazing to see all of the impressive backgrounds and interests of this cohort shine through as we worked through our projects."

—Carrie B., Arava NextGen Climate Changemakers Participant

Your Impact: Federation's Community Shlichim Program

Each year, in partnership with The Jewish Agency for Israel, Federation's Community shlichim Program brings shlichim (emissaries) to Greater Washington. Working with congregations, JCCs, schools, and other organizations, shlichim create programs that increase our understanding of and connection to Israel.

This year, Federation's community shlichim connected 10,877 people to Israel through 261 local programs, including for the first time at Makom (formerly Jewish Foundation for Group Homes).

Caring for the Vulnerable in Israel

Federation works closely with our international partners, JDC, The Jewish Agency for Israel, and World ORT, to meet the needs of Jewish communities in Israel and 70+ countries around the globe. For decades, Federation has worked closely with those on the ground to ensure that Jewish community members around the world are connected to Jewish life and well cared for, wherever they are and whenever they need us.

In Israel, your support of Federation funds programs for children and youth from low-income communities, people in poverty, the unemployed, elderly, and people with disabilities. These programs focus particularly on Ultra-Orthodox and Israeli-Arab populations, often the most economically vulnerable members of society.

Youth Futures, a Jewish Agency for Israel flagship program supported by Federation donors, is one of Israel's leading positive-intervention programs that empowers at-risk children and teens through a mentorship program.

Young adults are trained to guide children and their parents in different circles of intervention: personal, familial, social, and educational, with emphasis on full parental involvement and partnership in a long-term process.

Your support ensures Youth Futures can help at least 12,000 Israelis annually.

Strengthening Civil Society and Democracy in Israel

While Israel continues to face new and evolving challenges, Federation is focused on strengthening civil society to provide Israelis of all backgrounds with tools to tackle obstacles together.

To further civil society between Israelis, Federation also partners with Israeli organizations to strengthen both its democratic institutions and its role as a center for global Jewish peoplehood. Democratic institutions that support and represent Israel's diverse population are critically important for all its citizens, for global Jewry, and for Israel's vibrant future.

Nurturing Social Leadership

This year, your support helped fund Shaharit's Nurturing Social Leadership Program, which recruited 20 diverse emerging Israeli leaders to explore the challenges of living together and envisioning a shared future. Through meetings and study trips, participants deepened their visions of Israel as individuals and as a community of leaders.

Meeting Jewish Community Needs in Ukraine

With your support and Federation's decades-long partnerships in Ukraine with The Jewish Federations of North America, The Jewish Agency for Israel, JDC, and World ORT, we have been responding to emergency needs from day one of the conflict.

Today, though thousands of Ukrainian Jews have fled, most of the 200,000+ Jewish community members are still sheltering within the country. As the war continues, Federation and our partners are working to ensure urgent relief reaches those most in need, from refugees who have left to the millions still remaining — and many displaced — in Ukraine.

Your Impact in Ukraine

With your support, our partners in Vienna's Jewish community provided two seders and 2,000 Passover meals this April to 250 Jewish refugees from Ukraine.

Local rabbis led seders, answering children's questions and excitedly celebrating together. This special care provided those in attendance with some relief from the constant threats to their home and family members still under fire.

Empowering Leaders to Effect Change

Building a robust pipeline of committed, knowledgeable lay leaders with the skills to lead Jewish institutions and the community with confidence and competence is imperative for our vibrant Jewish future.

Federation is committed to identifying and cultivating Jewish community leaders across Greater Washington through a variety of experiences. We bring in new leaders who reflect our local diversity and who will be effective in shaping Jewish life for years to come, and provide opportunities for current leaders to learn and grow.

Federation Launches Next Gen Partner Agency Fellowship

Over the last year, 13 young adult leaders engaged in a structured, professionally-facilitated experience as active members of Federation partner agency boards. The participants learned about the agencies serving our Jewish community, were exposed to the decision-making processes of board leadership, built tangible governance skills to strengthen their own leadership, and developed stronger ties with other communal leaders.

“I gained an appreciation for the size, diversity, and history of the Northern VA Jewish community. Having that perspective allowed me to view the long-time leaders and board members differently, and, with that, I felt like I had roots in a new Jewish community.”

—Next Gen Partner Agency Fellow

“Through this experience, I learned how to continue to voice a wide range of perspectives, especially of those not in the boardroom, and navigate disagreements with care.”

—Next Gen Partner Agency Fellow

Reducing Economic Vulnerability in Jewish Greater Washington

Federation is focused on identifying opportunities to better support and care for Jewish community members in need across Greater Washington. We are committed to ensuring that all those facing economic vulnerability can receive the support they need to live with dignity and independence and to engage in Jewish life.

“We really appreciate the support Federation gave us this year. Being unemployed since November put [summer] camp in question, but I am so glad that the financial assistance came through to make it happen for our daughter.”

—Camp scholarship recipient

Federation and our donors provide critical assistance and vital resources to community members throughout Jewish Greater Washington, meeting evolving needs as they arise.

$1.2M+

in cumulative funds have supported the growth of 703-J-CARING: the Jewish Community Support Line, launched in 2020 in partnership with JSSA and our network of human service agencies. This investment includes the Care Navigator Program, addressing food insecurity, and broadening awareness of available resources.

$3.5M

has been allocated by Federation since 2020 to support initiatives focusing on individuals and families in need across the region.

people across 91 zip codes have been connected to and received vital care, such as rent or mortgage aid, mental health services, and loan application assistance, through Federation’s partners.

1,500+

volunteers during Federation’s Sara & Samuel J. Lessans Good Deeds Week collected 1,200+ pounds of food and prepared 1,200+ meals for those in need, including refugees, throughout Greater Washington in 2023.

Engaging Families with Young Children

Families with young children across our community seek to belong, forge close personal ties with others, and connect with larger meaning and purpose.

Thanks to you, families with young children are able to connect with each other and Jewish life across Greater Washington. We begin by understanding their core needs, and then develop engaging, meaningful ways for families to connect and find a sense of belonging.

1,250 families with young children connected to our community through JFamily Ambassadors, funded by Federation and run through each local JCC. These engagement professionals help families connect with the community in a comfortable and accessible way.

9,800 children from more than 6,500 families deepened their connection to our community and Judaism through PJ Library and PJ Our Way, which provide free Jewish children's books and family events, with local funding and implementation by Federation, the Harold Grinspoon Foundation, and you — our generous donors.

"We love reading to our son! It's always such a treat to find his next PJ Library book in the mail. Having new books to read and teach him about Judaism from such an early age is fun for all of us."

—Schwartz Family

5,800 families deepened their relationships to Israel through more than 260 programs led by Federation's Community Shlichim (Israeli emissaries).

668 children created core memories and strengthened their Jewish identities by attending Jewish summer camp, thanks to Federation scholarships and One Happy Camper grants. Without your support, many of these campers may not have been able to afford this formative experience.

Building a Community of Belonging

We know that to build a shared future, we must ensure our leaders, organizations, and programming reflect and embrace the full breadth of Jewish life across age, ability, geography, stage of life, religious affiliation, ethnicity, race, gender and sexual identity, political affiliation, and beyond. Creating spaces where everyone feels they belong is vital for our ability to effectively overcome challenges and build a shared future.

Federation continues to identify and convene leaders who reflect our local diversity and will be instrumental in shaping Jewish life for years to come as we respond to our communal needs. We are also investing significant funds into disability inclusion efforts across our community. Together, we aim to create spaces and opportunities where all members feel connected to our local Jewish organizations and community and to the global Jewish people.

Prioritizing Inclusive Leadership in Jewish Greater Washington

In 2023, Federation proudly launched our inaugural Belonging Learning Cohorts Initiative to build more paths towards a community of belonging.

Nearly 150 community leaders and 39 synagogues and organizations (including Federation) explored ways to build confidence and competence in our shared pursuit of a more inclusive Jewish community. The eight cohorts covered racial and social justice, LGBTQ+ and disability inclusion, and addressing political and cultural divisions.

“These workshops helped me begin to dismantle previous ideas of power and learn how specific dynamics affect interpersonal relationships. All five sessions left me with ways I can rethink my approach to personal and professional situations.”

On the Horizon: Investing in Communal Disability Inclusion

In September 2023, Federation allocated $100,000 in grants to 16 local organizations to help expand their disability inclusivity capabilities. With varying need across the area, the recipients, ranging from JCCs to summer camps to synagogues and more, have unique plans for how to use the money.

Thanks to our generous donors, this marks the first time Federation could award grants at this level for such a large-scale program.

“The grant money and... program will help further our efforts to provide spaces where people feel welcomed and celebrated for their differences. We want people to be comfortable being transparent about what they need and be able to provide it.”

In Their Own Words

“As Jews, each of us is responsible for the Jewish community. We try to give generously throughout our lifetimes, but also provide additional funds for after we are gone.

We were able to combine the Jewish Community Foundation’s experience with our goals and objectives — the unity and continuity of the Jewish people through relevant and meaningful Jewish wisdom and education — and develop a specific plan that works for us.

By working with the Foundation, we hope to provide for the Jewish community now and for future generations.”

Building a Legacy

The Jewish Community Foundation is invested in understanding your and your family's philanthropic goals for your lifetime and beyond. Our charitable community embodies what it means to give through a Jewish lens with a peer group that shares your values.

When Sue D. approached our foundation seeking to make an immediate impact and lay the groundwork for an enduring legacy in memory of her beloved husband, the Jewish Community Foundation partnered with Jewish teen movement BBYO to endow a new scholarship that will send an accomplished high school student to tour concentration camps and other historic sites.

As Sue describes, it's easy to feel pressured to do something right away or to provide support for many things. However, she urges donors to do what they can to remain focused, committed, and patient. "The right thing will present itself." Read more of Sue's story here.

Participants at BBYO's Kallah program light a fire together.

Whether you're just starting out or well on your way to achieving your philanthropic vision, we're here to support your giving. Turn to the Jewish Community Foundation for:

- Help with giving to your favorite causes within and beyond the Jewish community

The Jewish Community Foundation's Next Chapter

A Focus on Learning & Intergenerational Philanthropy

Based on our survey of Jewish Community Foundation donors, we found local philanthropists like you have a passion and strong desire for learning with like-minded donors on effective philanthropic practices, intergenerational giving, and issues impacting our world today.

In 2022, we began with an intimate conversation with Eric Ward, a civil rights strategist and nationally recognized expert on countering antisemitism and inspiring change, followed by a special learning session with experts on the growing migrant crisis. Sessions like these connect diverse participants to one another and to the issues that matter and illuminate how philanthropic giving can make a difference.

On the Horizon

This year, we will expand learning opportunities to include intergenerational family giving, effective philanthropy coupled with continuing conversations with experts on current issues of our day. We hope you can join us for discussions like these where the Jewish Community Foundation can help you best understand the issues that impact our community and work together to solve them.

Building Black-Jewish Solidarity

In tandem with Federation, and driven by our joint antisemitism strategy, we are focused on building strong relationships with the world beyond the Jewish community to fight antisemitism and stand for racial justice.

In April 2023, our first steps included partnering with the Greater Washington Community Foundation and the Washington Regional Association of Grantmakers on a joint statement.

This year, we are committed to building solidarity, establishing greater understanding, and strengthening relationships between Black and Jewish communities, faith leaders, donors, and nonprofits. Together, we can serve as allies in the quest for social justice and join forces to fight antisemitism, racism, and hate in all forms.

Investing in Women and Girls

In 2023, the Jewish Community Foundation launched our Women's Fund, leveraging the incredible assets and work of the sunsetted Tikkun Olam Women's Fund.

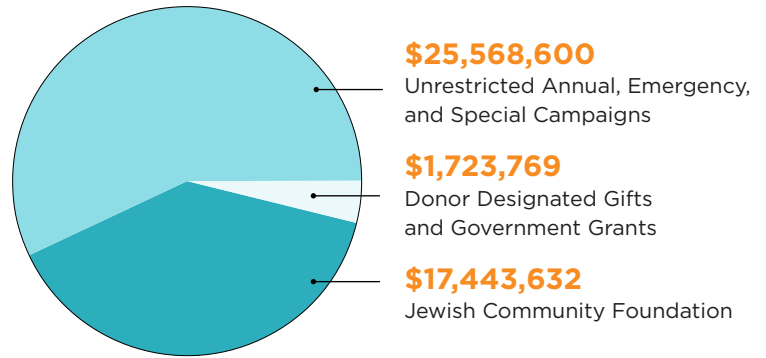

The Women's Fund is a philanthropic model for the Jewish community, aiming to provide multi-year, substantial grants to organizations transforming outcomes on one to two select issues; engage donors in collective funding and learning efforts to further this work; and work directly with donors and with women most impacted by the issues we address to operate the fund.

People of all gender identities and backgrounds are invited to participate in and donate to this fund. We will be sharing ways to engage throughout 2023-24.
